

CHAPTER V

CONCLUTIONS AND SUGGESTIONS

In this research, the researcher presents the following conclusions and suggestions based on the result of the research findings and discussions as explained in the chapter IV.

1. Conclusions

One of language skills taught in English is writing. The mastery of English writing is needed to improve and support the other skills. Therefore in teaching writing, teacher should be able to make the materials interesting to students. Thus, the students can obtain the materials well. In teaching English, the teacher as motivator and facilitator can create a suitable technique and help students to improve their ability in writing descriptive text. Based on the data findings, it can be concluded:

The students' ability in writing descriptive text is various. However, the students' ability in descriptive text can be improved by using freewriting technique. Freewriting technique can help the students in getting ideas, or getting start to write. Based on the result of this research, this technique is suitable to improve their ability in writing skill especially in writing descriptive text.

Freewriting technique is one of techniques that can be applied during the class activities in determining the students' achievement in learning English especially in writing descriptive text. Therefore, in teaching English writing, teachers could use this technique as one of teachers' efforts in transferring the materials to the students. This technique is a suitable technique used to teach the students which have different and various background of their ability.

Finally, the hypothesis of this research is “the students’ writing ability in descriptive text can be improved by using freewriting” acceptable. Further, the calculation of the data by using t-test, it states that the hypothesis is acceptable in the level of significant (α) = 0.05 with sample (n) = 20 is 2.022, so t_{count} (-11.38) $\leq t_{list}$ (2.022).

2. Suggestions

Based on the conclusion above, there is a suggestion to English teachers that in achieving the students’ success in learning English, the teacher should be able to find an effective technique which depends on the level of class and student by keeping their interesting and getting them more involved so, asking them to be active in the class.

By applying freewriting technique, the teachers could help the students to practice the use of language in written form. This technique is helpful for the students to be more enthusiastic to write English. Therefore, this technique is recommended to the English teachers to give the student more exercises of writing activity by trying to vary the teachers’ model in teaching and making the classroom as interesting as possible. So, the students will be more interested in learning English especially in writing.
