

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

After conducting this study, the researcher draws a conclusion about this study. Moreover, some suggestion is given for the reader.

5.1 Conclusion

After conducting this study, the researcher found seven kinds of expressive illocutionary acts. In this case, 39 corpus had been found but only 29 corpus that explained in this research because some of them occurred repeatedly. It means that only 74,35% were explained. Those are 15,38% or six utterances that related to expression of apologizing although 28,21% or eleven utterances had been found. It used to express of regret or sorrow because the locator can not give a chance to someone; locator had had some mistakes or getting unsuccessful.

Besides, 20,51% or eight utterances of thanking in spite of 28,21% or eleven utterances had been found. These expressions were used to express of gratitude within situation of getting support or everything that important from someone and got permission for doing something.

Moreover, 2,56% or one utterance of congratulation was used in this object of study. It was used to express the pleasure for the hearer because s/he got success.

Furthermore, 5,12% or two expressions of lamenting had been found. These expressions used to express fell sadness because of getting misfortune.

7,69% or three expressions of boasting were used in the object of study for expressing pride because the locator thought that hers is better than others.

Expression of complimenting consists of two or 5,12% utterances. These expressions were used to compliment someone who had done a job successfully. Moreover, it was for expressing of admiration.

The last is expressions of praising had been found in Barbie and the Three Musketeers. There were 17,94% or 7 utterances. In reality, there were 23,07% or nine utterances but some of them appeared repetitive. These expressions were used in the object of study to express someone's success; someone who praised had strugled for building dream and appeared a good performance.

The corpuses that related to expression of thanking mostly occur in motion picture of Barbie and the Three Musketeers. It was expressing the speaker's pleasure to show that the speaker is grateful for something. In addition, it was used in the object of study for expressing gratitude for the listener who getting support or everything that important for the speaker's life.

5.2 Suggestion

For improving the excellence of study for the next research, there are some suggestions:

The researcher expects that the next researcher that dealing with other kinds of illocutionary acts such as, directive, commissive, declarative and assertive more completely.

Moreover, the researcher supposed that this research can enrich the readers' knowledge about speech act and especially for expressive illocutionary act.

Furthermore, this research may help the students of English Department who interested to learn about illocutionary acts, especially expressive illocutionary acts.