

ABSTRACT

Numalia Gandura (2013): “An analysis of Indonesian-English Code Mixing on Economic and Education Column of The Gorontalo post Newspaper”. English department, Faculty Letters and Culture, Gorontalo State University. First advisor Dra. Hj. Sartin Miolo, M.Hum and second advisor Titien F Mohammad S.Pd, M.App.Ling

This study aims to find out the kinds of code mixing in newspaper. The sources of the data in this study are words and phrases contained of code mixing that found in newspaper of Gorontalo Post. The method of this research is quantitative descriptive method. The data of this research were collected from the news on economic and education column of the Gorontalo Post. There were two phases have been to collect the data. There collected the news of economic and education column make clipping and support the data through editors of news.

The result of this research could be concluded that in newspaper of the Gorontalo Post. There are 58 words and 22 phrases include to phenomenon of code mixing and used in Gorontalo Post. Words and phrase consist in three types of code mixing. There are insertion, alternation and congruent lexicalization.

Keywords: Sociolinguistic, Code mixing, Gorontalo Post newspaper