

Chapter V

Conclusions and Suggestions

In this chapter, I present the conclusions and suggestions of the research from the result of the research in the chapter IV.

Conclusions

This research is conducted at the eleventh grade students of SMA Model Kabila. Based on the research finding and discussion in chapter IV, it can be concluded there are some difficulties that the students still find in understanding some of the indicator of narrative text. The difficulties that students have can be seen from their result. The students' difficulties are 31.24% and it is categorized into low level. There are 9 students could be classified as students who have medium level of difficulties in understanding the narrative text and 17 students could be classified as students who have low level of difficulties in understanding narrative text. So, it can be conclude that most of the students have good understanding the narrative text.

The students' difficulties in reading narrative text can be caused of their lack of understanding the narrative text because of their vocabularies in English or their interest in reading English text and it made students did not understanding of the story and make them can't answer the question of narrative text well. And the last caused is that students felt bored in reading long passage of story and the theme or topic from the story that is not interested to read.

Suggestion

Based on the findings, I would like to give some suggestions; students must be able to understand the reading of narrative text in their English practice. Not only study at class but also should practice the language by reading many story books or novel, magazine, and the other text which can add their knowledge to understand English text in their daily activity. Thus, students can add their vocabulary to understand in English text, especially in reading narrative text. Students also must be helped by English teacher in learning process, it does not only explain theoretically the material, but also teacher should make the students interest to study by giving a good strategy and give interesting topic of narrative text.

Hopefully, this research can support the result of the last research that was conducted the same research and I hope this research can give a new inspiration to the next researcher. Furthermore, I hope the next researcher will apply a strategy or method to solve the students' difficulties in reading narrative text.
