

ABSTRACT

Nuraini Syamsul, 2015. The Relationship of Ability and Work Motivation of Nurse and Quality of Nursing Care at Regional Public Hospital (RSUD) Dr. M.m Dunda Limboto in 2015. Skripsi, Department of Nursing, Faculty of Health and Sport Sciences, Universitas Negeri Gorontalo. the principal supervisor was Rini Fahriani Zees, S.Kep, Ns, M.Kep and co supervisor was dr. Vivien Novarina A. Kasim M.Kes.

Based on WHO, hospital is an integral division of social and health organization which works to provide complete care (comprehensive), healing (curative), and prophylaxis (preventive) to community. The research aimed at identifying the relationship of ability and work motivation of nurse and quality of nursing care at RSUD Dr. M.m Dunda Limboto.

The research was categorized to analytic survey research with cross sectional approach through applying analytic descriptive method. Population was amounted to 132 nurses while random sampling technique led to acquire 64 respondents. Data collection was through questionnaire. Technique of data analysis used univariate and bivariate analysis.

The result of univariate test in gaining data on the ability of nurse was categorized to sufficient for 55 people (85,9%), motivation was categorized to sufficient for 53 people (82,8%) and quality of nursing care was categorized to sufficient for 37 people (57,8%). The result of fisher exact test revealed that there was there were relationships between ability of nurse and quality of health care , motivation of nurse and quality of nursing care with p value 0,000.

To sum up, there was relationship of ability and work motivation of nurse and quality of nursing care at RSUD Dr. M.m Dunda Limboto. Therefore, it is recommended to the hospital officer to increase the capacity of nurses.

Keywords: ability, motivation, quality of care

