

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

Conclusion

Conan The Barbarian is a legend of Cimmeria. After studying the revenge in surviving life by major character in conan movie, the researcher take some conclusion than can be used as reflection in our live.

1. Surviving is the ability to survive in all condition.
2. The revenge in surviving life is done by conan to reach the edge of the word by killing, steaking, keeping himself alive climbing high wall, and cross the sea only to look for a name of the man who killed his father.
3. The reader can take significance from the survival of conan's life. He is not aweak person, eventhough he lived alone.

Suggestion

The researcher has some suggestion related to her analysis as the following.

1. The researcher hopes that the readers and the watchers can understand about the story in the movie.
2. The readers and watchers can get a moral lesson from the major character.
3. The researcher also expect that the readers and the watchers will be interested in watching and discussing this movie.

4. The researchers realizes that this research still far from being perfect but the she hope, it will be useful for the readers, especially for students who are going to writer their research soon and use this paper as one of their references.
