

Chapter V: Conclusion

Conclusion

The story of Erin Tierney is about the struggle in modern society which existed because of inequality in education and domestic violence. The existence of inequality in Erin's life is connected with the patriarchal system whom still conducted by the leader of the family. In the past, Erin's father controlled Erin's education with patriarchy and made her lost his opportunity to study in college. Erin's education also restricted by her husband and made her unable to obtain a driver's license. Inequality in education restricted Erin from knowing her privilege. As the result of the lack of opportunity in education, domestic violence enters Erin's life. From the explanation in the discussion, Erin experienced 5 types of domestic violence simultaneously. These 5 types of domestic violence are physical abuse, emotional abuse, sexual abuse, financial abuse, and psychological abuse.

Suggestion

This study offers some suggestion for the family of English Department, especially for students and lecturers.

The reader

This research informs the reader about the possibility which affected by the existence of the patriarchal system in the family. The system which conducted in a family is crucial for the future and development of the children. Patriarchy is a good method but very weak since all of the control was charged to one person or a man who became the leader of the family. Erin was an excellent example of this weakness. Because of patriarchy, women are isolated and restricted in many ways. This research also provides an explanation about how bad is parenting and household if a patriarchal system existed in there. Thus, the purpose of this research is to make the reader know a better information and explanation about inequality in civil and economic liberty which caused by patriarchy.

Educational Institutions

With the better information, which could be found in this research, about how patriarchy system affected the family and household, hopefully, lecturers will easier to explain to the student about feminism, especially liberal feminism. Lecturers are the leader of the student. All of the leader's action is recorded in students' mind and provided a motivation for the student to did the exact things. All of the leaders need a system to control their class and patriarchy would be a bad system to conduct because of this system's weakness. Hopefully, this research could be a reference for the student who had the interest in the study of women and feminism, especially for the English Department members.
