Conclusion

In this study there are 20 data taken from twitter posts and the replay or comment on the latest 2018 to current 2019. The data described on the research finding. The result of this study is clearly described on table 2.

No	Types of Slang	Appearance
1	Society Slang	13 times
2	Public House Slang	3 times
3	Cockney Slang	1 time
4	Theatre Slang	1 time
5	Parliament and Politics Slang	1 time
6	Workmen's Slang	1 time

Society slang is the most used slang on twitter by its 13 appearances out of 20 collected data. Then, there is Public House Slang with 3 data collected. Then Cockney slang, Theatre slang, Political slang and Workmen's slang with the same frequencies of appearance (1 time each). Although Partridge "Slang Today and Yesterday" (1954) has 25 types of slang, but out of 20 data in this research there are only 6 types of slang has found. Society slang is type of slang that use by some social group and then they use it as a property of the group and define them into certain way (Partridge, 1933). Society slang is a common use slang that related to the society. Moreover, this society slang is the most use slang on twitter.

Suggestion

This research probably can be one pilot study or reference for students of English Department who need to learn linguistics particularly slang. Also for students who would like to have a study or deep research about the related topic. This study also can be used as reference for the educators who need more information about slang. In addition, the other Department also can have this study as one of the additional information or also reference towards the topic that analyzed in.

The more references the more knowledge can be found. So, for that researcher suggest the reader to have more knowledge related to study by other references too. The researcher truly hopes that this research will be useful for the improvement of literature especially slang in English Department of State University of Gorontalo.
