Conclusions

Based on the data findings, Fun Easy Learn English Application had some advantages in the learning process:

The first advantage is the students can relax and excited in learning because they feel fun and enjoy in the classroom. Second, by using Fun Easy Learn English application in the learning process the students looked more interest, active, and competitive in learning. Third, this application can manage the teacher to explain more about vocabulary to the students. The last, this application can make the students more understand about vocabulary and make them easier to do their assignments because they already have some lists of vocabulary in their book and their mind.

Based on the result of data analyzed, the researcher concludes that by using Fun Easy Learn English application the students' vocabulary had increased. It was proved the differences between pre-test and post-test data results. Moreover, it was proved that the hypothesis (H_1) of this study is accepted because t_{count} was bigger than t_{list} . Thus, teaching English subjects using Fun Easy Learn English application as media to increase students' vocabulary could attract the students' interest in learning English, could be a positive effect on learning, and increase students' vocabulary.

Recommendation

In this study, the researcher would like to give two suggestions. The first, the teacher should use media like smartphone application in learning activities. It is better for the teacher using game like Fun Easy Learn English application as learning sources because this application beneficial to help the students more understand vocabulary. Second, for the next researcher who wants to conduct the same research by applying smartphone application in learning process maybe can try to apply smartphone application in different level of students such as in elementary school or kindergarten school because vocabulary is the first basic thing we have to learn to mastery a language.
