

Chapter 5: Conclusions and Suggestion

The goal in this chapter is to give the relevant conclusions about students' perception on the use note taking strategy in listening for academic purpose. Besides, the suggestions also are presented this chapter.

Conclusions

Based on the description of findings and discussions about students' perception on the use note taking strategy in listening for academic purpose, there are some points that can be concluded related to this research. Those points are students' perception on the use of note taking in listening, students' perception about the advantages on the use note taking in listening, students' perception related to the problems barriers on the use of note taking while listening.

The students have a good perception about the use of note taking in listening subject. They use note taking strategy in listening in order to get understanding and remembering every important points of information which was being listened. Besides, there are many advantages that students found on the process of applying note taking strategy in listening subject. As it is known that note taking can be a good strategy in learning due to its function. Note taking can help students to learn and review the material and also the use of note taking strategy really helpful in learning because it can be a tool in writing every important points while learning, particularly in listening subject. Moreover, the use of note taking is not only for writing important points, but also it can help the students in remembering and reviewing the information as they have passed the audio that was being listened or the meeting with the lecturer. Besides, most of them state that they are taking note because it is one of the strategies to help them in understanding the important points and several terms that they do not know about the material. Furthermore, the researcher conclude that note taking strategy is used in listening to write several important points or information from the audio that they hear, so that they can remember it by writing a notes while listening.

Suggestion

Based on the findings and discussion about students' perception on the use note taking, there are several suggestions that provided by the researcher to the students, lecturers, and further researchers. For the students, they can use note taking as a strategy in listening subject to be more understand and comprehend the information that was being listened. Besides, they can improve their listening skill and decrease their difficulties in listening subject. For the lecturer, they can guide the students related to the use of note taking as a strategy in comprehending the information of listening the audio. For the further researcher, they can use this research as a reference for them in exploring the use of note taking in other objects.

References

- Armbruster, B. (2000). Taking Notes From Lectures. Handbook of College Reading and Strategy Research, 10.
- Alen, M. (2009 P. 204-205). Listening: The Forgotten Skill (2nd ed.). New York: Jhon Wiley & Sons.
- Buck, G. (2001). Assessing Listening. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press.
- Creswell, J. W. (2003). Fourt Edition Research Design: Qualitative, Quantitative, and Mixed Method Approaches. USA: SAGE.
- Creswell, J. W. (2009). Research Design: Qualitative, Quantitative, and Mixed Method Approaches. USA: SAGE.
- Davoudi, M. (2003). Impact of Corlell Note-Taking Method Instruction on Grammar. Learning of Irania EFL Learners, 2.
- Downs, L. (2008). ListeningSkill Training. USA: ASTD Press.
- Drood, M. Z. (2017). The Effect of ListeningQuestions and Activity. International Journal of linguwastic, 5-7.
- Doff, A. (1995). Listening1. Students In Britwas Englwash. Language Listening. Theory and Practice. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press.
- Hirsch. (2005). The Difference Between Hearing and Listening. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press.
- Hope. (2006). Active ListeningImprove Your Ability To Lwasten and Lead. Greensboro, N.C.:Center of Leadership.

- Haghverdi, H. R. (2010). Note Taking Strategies and Academic Achievement. Language and Linguistic Studies, 10.
- Harold, G. (2018). Active and passive listening. Studies in Education WASSN.
- Lzzio, A. S. (2002). Students' perception of the learning environment and academy outcomes. Australia: Carfax Publwasig.
- Malhorta, N. (2004). Questionnaire Design and Scale Depelopment. Georgia: Georgia Institute of Technology.
- Makany, T. (2008). Optimwasing the Use of Note- Taking as an External Cognitive Aid for Incresing Learning. Britwas Journal of Educational Technology.
- Neville, C. (2010). The Effects of Teacher Immediacy, Use of Organizational Lecture Cues, and Students' Note Taking on Cognitive Learning. Commnication Education, 25.
- Oxford University. (2011). Oxford Learner's Pocket Dictionary Fourth Edition. England: Oxford University Press.
- Piolat, O. &. (2004). Improving Note-Taking Skill of Tertiary Students. International Journal of Education Learning and Devolopment, 44.
- Rost. (1994). Academy ListeningEnounres The Natural Words. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press.
- Rizvi, M. A. (2007). Effective Technical Communication. New Delhi: Tata McGraw-Hill Publwashing Company Limited.

- Ramadhan, B. (2009). Gambaran Persepsi Keselamatan Berkendara Sepeda Motor Pada Swaswa/I Sekolah Menengah Atas di Kota Bogor. Jakarta: Universitas Indonesia.
- Sugiono, P. D. (2005). Penelitian Quantitative Qualitative Dan R&B. Bandung: Alfaberta.
- Sweetow, R. R. (2005). Training The Adult Brain to Lwasten. The Hearing Journal, 10.
- Tsai-FU. (2010). Effect of Note-Taking Instruction and Note-Taking Languages on College EFL Students' ListeningComprehension. New Harious in Educaton, 8.
- Tyagi, (2013). Listening: an Important Skill and Its Various Aspects. An International Journal in Englwash
- Udhayakumpar, R. (2018). Variables Influence of ListeningComprehension. Journal of Englwash Language and Literature, 2.
- Vinh., H. T. (2015). Difficulties and Strategies in ListeningComprehension. Truong Dai HocLac Hong.
- Vandergrift, L. (1999). Facilitating second language listeningcomprehension aquiring sucessful strategies. ELT Journal, 168.
- Yagang. (1994). Learners Difficulties & Strategies in ListeningComprehension. Englwash Community Journal, 139-152.