ABSTRACT

Amalia Arifah, Student ID Number. 711519009, 2022. The Implementation of the GERMAS (Healthy Living Community Movement) Program Policy in the Covid 19 Pandemic Era in Gorontalo Regency. Postgraduate Program, State University of Gorontalo. The Principal Supervisor is Dr. Zuchri Abdussamad S.I.K., M.Si, and the Co-supervisor is Dr. Irawaty Igirisa, M.Si.

The objectives of this research are to identify and describe 1). The Implementation of GERMAS (Healthy Living Community Movement) Program Policy in the Covid 19 Pandemic Era in Gorontalo Regency reviewed from a). Planning, b). Implementation, c) Monitoring and Evaluation. 2). The Determination of the Implementation of GERMAS (Healthy Living Community Movement) Program Policy in the Covid 19 Pandemic Era in Gorontalo Regency reviewed from a) Communication, b). Resources, c). Disposition, d). Bureaucratic Structure.

The research method employs descriptive qualitative where the research site is Gorontalo Regency. At the same time, the data collection techniques in this research are observation, interviews, and documentation which are then analyzed using qualitative data based on the concept of Miles and Huberman.

The findings disclose that the implementation of the GERMAS Program Policy in the Covid-19 Pandemic Era in Gorontalo Regency reviewed from a) Planning, b). Implementation, c). Evaluation has been carried out. However, the dissemination process as one of the planning stages is still hampered by the COVID-19 pandemic. Consequently, the overall and clear dissemination of information cannot be achieved optimally by the target group. While at the implementation stage, there are still many people who do not carry out regular medical check-ups, and the monitoring and evaluation stage remains not optimal due the reports submitted are not based on actual conditions in the field.

Moreover, the determination of the implementation of GERMAS program policy in Covid-19 pandemic era in Gorontalo Regency reviewed from: a). Communication, b). Resources, c). Disposition, d). bureaucratic structures have been carried out, although they are not optimal yet. This is indicated by the unequal communication aspect and the bureaucratic structure that does not have standard operating procedures (SOP) and organizational structures for the Technical Service to implement GERMAS program policy.
