

Chapter 5: Conclusion and Suggestion

This chapter provides the conclusion and suggestion of the study, which basically pointed out the result which displayed in the previous chapter.

Conclusion

According to the data in finding and discussion, it can be concluded that most of students got positive impact in learning listening through popular song. Generally, we are all know that learning English consider as tough thing for most of language learners, especially about listening skill. Plenty of obstacles that faced by students distract the progress of their learning. One of the issues that commonly happen is about the way of native speaker delivered the listening material. In this case, the speed and accent could be the causes of students' problems in comprehending listening material. However, learning listening skill through popular song brought newly good atmosphere towards students' learning process. Applying popular son in learning listening skill gave mostly students some good vibes. These students were positively believed that this way affect their excitement in learning listening skill. The song lyrics and beat that students heard became the reason to stimulus the process of their thinking. In this case, understandable lyrics assisted the students to get into the message of the song. Besides, experiencing the moral of the song in the popular song lyrics in real life could positively affect students' level of comprehension.

Nevertheless, there is little number of students who revealed that they felt hard to understand the message of the song lyrics. In line with this issue, the data of interview explained that these students were too focusing in enjoying the song lyrics. In the other words, these students were getting into the flow of the popular song's vibes. These students preferred to memorize and sing along the lyrics instead of comprehending the meaning or message of the song. Despite that, when the popular song was being played for the second times, these students tried to look for the meaning of the lyrics. Eventually, these students could figure out the message in those popular song lyrics.

Suggestion

In this part, the researcher would like to contribute some suggestion for the students, lecturers, and future researcher by considering the researcher finding and discussion. The researcher suggests the students to be more focus on the listening material. Learning listening through popular song could relax students' mind, nonetheless students have to be aware and concern about the purpose of leaning. By applying popular song, the researcher needs the students to feel fun and easy in mastering listening skill. Therefore, the students have to set their main focus in comprehending the meaning and message of popular song that being played by the researcher.

Furthermore, the researcher suggests the lecturer to make a kind of improvement in teaching at listening class, particularly about the rules agreement. This thing needs to conduct by the lecturer in order to set students' attention on reaching the purpose of learning. Besides, the lecturer has to wisely choose the song that will be the material of listening. It is because most of popular song in its lyrics, which basically do not good to use in learning listening skill.

Correspondingly, the researchers hope that any future researchers could use this study as their references. Besides, the researcher hopes that there will be any further research that probably will discover any things that previously missed by the researcher.
