Conclusion

Slang as the language phenomenon that appear in generation to generation have been the important topic and issue to discuss about. Why young people prefer to use slang in their conversation? Is slang can be the reason why people forget about standard language in present day and in the future? Those are some question that appear when slang became the main topic of discussion. Slang which have friendly relationship with the media especially electronic media, has grown up so fast, as fast as how people can get new information in present day. One of the media that have really close relationship and give a big impact to the development of slang is movie,one of the example is “Pitch Perfect” movie. “Pitch Perfect” which brings drama musical theme and college as the main place have been show the daily live and daily conversation of the American students in this generation. From the findings we can see that there so many slang that they use in this movie and those slang are categorized into three varieties. The most important think from this research is, there some special slang that I only found in this movie such as belt go, treble boned, a toner etc. Those slang actually represent this movie I mean they are show the characteristics of the movie as acapella movie.

Suggestion

Furthermore, I believe that people are still creating a new slang in this day and also in the future. I hope this research can give information that you need especially information about slang and varieties of slang. For you who going to do research about slang, there so many aspect of slang that you can explore. The object not only from the movie, you can also use social media, variety show, comic, novel etc. as the object. Some suggestion from me if you want to do research about slang, perhaps you can search and conduct research about, what are the slang which come from the past but still exist in present or even became a standard language, or you can find out what are the similar slang appear from two or more different countries. I really hope you can find out what you need from this research. Thank you.
